4. How we treat your data for marketing activities and whether profiling is used for such activities

We may process your data to tell you about products, services, and offers that may be of interest to you or your business. The personal data that we process for this purpose consists of information you provide to us and the data we collect and/or infer when you use our services. This information helps the Company to improve its services, customize browsing experience and enable it to inform its clients of additional products, services or promotions relevant to clients. In some cases, profiling is used, i.e. we process your data automatically to evaluate certain personal aspects to provide you with targeted marketing information on products.

We can only use your data to promote our products and services to you if we have your explicit consent to do so or, in certain cases, if we consider that it is in our legitimate interest to do so.

5. Your rights as a data subject

Right of access – you have the right to request from us to provide you with a copy of the personal data that we hold about you.

Right of rectification – you have a right to request from us to correct the personal data we hold about you that is inaccurate or incomplete.

Right to be forgotten – you have a right to request from us in certain circumstances to erase your data from our records. In case that these circumstances apply to your case and provided that no exception to this obligation applies the Company acting as your controller will erase your data from its records. Right to restriction of processing – you have a right to request from us where certain conditions apply, to restrict the processing of your data.

Right of portability – you have the right to request from us where certain conditions apply, to have the data we hold about you transferred to another organization. Where these conditions apply the Company will transfer your data to another organization.

Privacy Policy

Right to object – you have the right to object on grounds relating to your particular situation, to certain types of processing such as direct marketing or where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your fundamental rights and freedoms. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which overrides your rights and freedoms.

The right to request the transfer of your data to you or a third party. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format. Note that this right only applies to automated information which you initially provided consent for us to use or where we used the information to perform a contract with you.

The right to withdraw consent where we are relying on consent to process your data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent. If you withdraw your consent, we may not be able to provide certain products or services to you. We will advise you if this is the case at the time you withdraw your consent.

We may charge you a reasonable fee when a request is manifestly unfounded, excessive or repetitive, or we receive a request to provide further copies of the same data. In this case, we will send you a fee request which you will have to accept before us processing your request. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances.

the Company may either:

(a) charge a reasonable fee taking into account the administrative costs of providing the information or communication or taking the action requested; or (b) refuse to act on the request.
